THEY CONDEMN THE LOUISIANA LOTTERY COMPANY.

It Injures the City's Business—People Go Without the Necessaries of Life to Buy Tickets—Some of the Names

The estimation in which the Louisiana Lottery is held by representative business men in Washington is shown in the interviews printed below. These show that the great majority of those holding positive views on the subjective are opposed to the lottery, and recognize the fact that it affects business injuriously by carrying away large sums of money that should be spent here. Very few are willing to express

WILLIAM BALLANTYNE-I have no means of knowing much about the amount of money that is sent out of town for lottery tickets; but I am op-posed to gambling in any form and think the laws against it should be en-forced. I have reason to believe that very many people here dabble in Louisiana Lottery tickets, but I doubt whether enough money is spent in that way to affect business very much. LANSBURGH & BRO.-The Louisiana Lottery is a great fizzle. Probably there are few in our employ who do not invest in it, and they are just throwing their money away, for they never get a cent of it back. The thing is simply a

GEORGE RYNEAL-The lottery is

S. ASHMAN-I really think more money comes in from the lottery than goes out toward it. They don't ask anybody to play, and it is better to in-vest a dollar in a lottery ticket than for whisky. A. H. STRASBURGER-The trouble is that the lottery catches the poorest classes, who very often, I believe, go without the necessaries of life in order to purchase the tickets. It has a demoralizing effect generally, and THE CERTIC deserves credit for the manner in which it is fighting it.

Louis Heilbrun-I am opposed to lotteries on general principles. The Louisiana swindle takes a great deal of money out of town and very little of it gets back. It is, therefore, a bad thing

MR. ROBINSON-I don't know much about the effect of the lottery on general business, but I do know that it is an infamous concern, and THE CRITIC deserves great credit for the stand it has taken on this subject. There is scarcely a store in town where lottery tickets are not bought, and they might as well be thrown into the fire. I am glad to be given this opportunity of placing myself on record as opposed to this gigantic fraud.

PERCY METZGER-Lottery is a vice. the sense that it upsets the equili brium and steady going habits of the masses. Every person who purchases a lottery ticket is not only throwing his or her money away in a hopeless effort to gain riches, but far worse, in help ing to bring up a nation of gamblers. Youths see their elders indulging in such practice, and hear a rumor of some one drawing a prize from a lottery (which rumor ninety-nine chances out of one hundred is either false entirely or greatly exaggerated), and rush with their little savings, oftentimes their last cent to buy a lottery ticket. Thou-sands of dollars is monthly sent from this city for such schemes, and little or none returns. Lotteries never made a community rich, and never will. commend the course of THE CRITIC. and trust I may see lottery concerns shut up their doors for want of patronage. A. L. HAZLETON-I don't know very much about the lottery's effect on business, but judging from what I see in the papers about the drawings I should say that Washington gives the concern a great deal of money, and it is per-haps an injury to legitimate business. I have no doubt that it is what influences so many of the people in this town to try to live without paying their bills. All gambling schemes must, of course, have a more or less demoralizing effect.

JOHN H. MAGRUDER-I have always understood that lotteries are a bad thing for the whole country. No lottery, or fair for lottery purposes, is allowed in this District, but it is surprising the smount of money that is sent out of this city to lotteries. I think they are worse than a circus for that. It has a strong tendency to injure business, and takes money principally out of the pockets of poor people who cannot af-ford to lose it. Almost no money at all comes back to represent the large amount drawn from circulation here.

E. S. HUTCHINSON—I think if they can banish the sale of lottery tickets from the District it will be a good thing. Lotteries are a great damage to the poerer classes. I think that money exough goes out of the city monthly to injure the volume of business, but the njury to morals is greater. I think the lottery business does as much damage as the whisky business. I doubt if they will be able to get rid of it. I think the business has already become too large for Congress to handle.

W. HENDERSON MOSES-I most emphatically think that the sale of lottery tickets is detrimental to the business of any city or town, more especially so in this city, as we are so largely depend-ent on the Department clerk's salary, and he has so much time on his hands, as a rule, that he is more apt to try the chances of speculation than the labor ing man, who is the mainstay of busi-ness in other cities. I favor any measure before Congress looking to its abolition.

P. B. HAVENNER-I think lotteries are a bad thing. They take too much money away from the District. I think the sale of them in Washington should be stopped.

A. M. LOTHROP—There is no doubt that lotteries are a bad thing for Washington. They take a great deal of money out of the city. It would be better for the city and the people if the sale of lottery tickets could be stopped by the birther trees. in the District

BENJAMIN W. GUY-I think lotteries one of the greatest source of gambling in the District of Columbia. They ought to be stopped someway. At least $30,000 goes out of here every month r lottery tickets and only about $1,000 of it comes back.

R. GOLDSCHMIDT - The Louislana State Lottery is an institution to which I am thoroughly opposed. It has cost me a great deal of money. Now, don't imagine that I mean I have spent this money in it. What I mean is that I have been unable to collect debts owing me, because the people I trusted wasted their substance in playing lot-tery. I have it in black and white from a man who owes me a large amount of rent that the reason he is unable to pay is through his investments in this infamous concern. It ought certainly to be abolished, and THE CHITIC deserves great credit for the manner in which it is showing it up. I would not be so much opposed to it if it were conducted in the same manner as, lotteries in Europe, where in the course of time a man will, while not receiving anything in the long run, get his money back.

OPINION OF MERCHANTS This Louisiana fraud doesn't lay out to et anything go out of its clutches, exvertising purposes. I lived for some time in New Orleans, and thoroughly understand the working of the scheme. It is a fraud from beginning to end.

JAMES S. TOPHAM-The evil is a very demoralizing one and ought to be suppressed. It is downright robbery, and those who invest their dollars do not get more than one in a thousand

B. BRYAN, JR.—Every dollar that goes out of the city for lottery tickets is lost to the business of the place. Some men will put their last dollar in ottery tickets and go without bread to

F. BRINKMAN—Financially it is injurious to the business of the city. Thousands of dollars go out of it, and only small sums come in.

B. H. WARNER-I don't know any thing about the Louisiana Lottery, hever bought a ticket in it in my life nor did I ever come across any person who had won a prize in it.

W. B. Moses-You can put me down as condemning the thing and in the strongest possible terms. Any man who could be found selling a lottery ticket should be promptly sent to the penitentiary, and every man who is fool enough to buy one, should be sent to keep him company. As a man who has taken chances all his life and has given the question some study. I say that the chances are ninety-nine to against you in the Louisiana State

W. W. WOODWARD-Of course the "very injurious to general business, in my opinion, for the immense amount of money spent upon it in Washington is so much thrown away.

Louisiana Lottery is injurious to business owing to the large amount of money it takes out of town; but, what is more important, it is injurious from every other point of view. It has a demoralizing effect on the minds of the people, as must every institution that flourishes against the law, and more especially when it happens to be a gambling concern. I unhesitatingly put myself on record as in favor of its abolition.

W. H. HOEKE-Of course it must be an injury to business. I have never given much thought to the matter, but I am told that at least $30,000 a month goes out of this city for lottery tickets. Of course, there is nothing worth men-tioning received in return, and I think there can be but one opinion as to the injurious effect of such a one-sided ystem of business.

W. G. METZEROTT-I am opposed olotteries, above every form of gambling. People will persist in taking chances in some form or other, but lot-teries have a more demoralizing effect on business and everything else than horse-racing or betting of any kind. I was pleased to see The Critic refuse the Louislana Lottery's advertisement. The only effective way to put the con-cern down is to prevent it from advertising, and I hope to see other papers compelled by law to follow THE CRITIC'S example. I lived for seven cars abroad in a country where every ody invests in lotteries and had a very body invests in lotteries and had a very good opportunity to see the evil effects of such concerns. No good ever comes of these, and they only cause ruin, misery and poverty. They are a severe tax on the poorer class of people, and much injury must be done to Washington by such a large amount of money going out for lottery tickets and such a small amount coming back.

such a small amount coming back. ISIDOR SAKS-The natural inference is that the large amount which, I am told, goes out of the city for Louisiana Lottery tickets every month must have a bad effect upon business. I have, however, never given the matter much thought and cannot speak with authority upon it.

J. F. PAGE-Where so much goes out of the city and so little returns, as is the case with Washington's Louisiana Lottery dealings, there must certainly be an evil effect on the general business of the city, although this may not, perhaps, be perceptible.

W. D. WEST-I don't believe in any form of gambling, and I certainly think us that it should be permitted to be carried on openly, as is the case with the Louisiana Lottery. It certainly has a very injurious effect upon business, not only directly through the loss of the money taken out of the District by it, but indirectly, owing to the man-ner in which it leads people into un-businesslike habits and its general demoralizing effects. William A. Conway—Lotteries encourage persons to foolishly spend money that they would put to a better use. I think the sale of tickets in the District should be abolished. There is a large amount of money taken out of this city every month. Poor persons are tempted by the offer of large prizes to spend money they need very badly for their livelihood. There is very little of it comes back. tle of it comes back.

E. E. SARGENT-I look upon lotteries as a game of heads I win, tails you lose. They are taking the bread out of a great many poor people's mouths in this city. I think that any legislation which will break up the sale of tickets here will be wise and wholesome.

F. F. REPPETTI-I think lotterie are like circuses—they take money ou of a city without any return. They are bad for the business interests of any city. There is just so much money circulating, and when it is withdrawn to some other place and does not return it hurts our best interests.

Jehovah's Last Messenger to the Jowa

A dispatch from Louisville to the St. Louis Globe Democrat says that a man whose name is unknown is going about the city claiming to be the second Adam. He wanders from place to place and announces that he has a revelation direct from the Messiah. Who he is and how he supports himself no one knows. This morning he made a round of all the newspaper offices.

He was about sixty years old, shabbily dressed, short of stature and wearing sandy colored hair and beard, which was thin and unkempt. The old man approached a reporter and said:
"I have an important announcement, and I beg of you to publish it for the good of the Israelites. I am commissioned of Jehovah to warn my people,

"When did you have a conference with the Almighty?" was asked.
"This morning, just half an hour ago, as I was walking along the street, the Great Jehovah whispered into my ear, just as plainly as I am talking to you, 'Warn my people to return to Pal-estine without delay.' "

"How often does Jehovah communicate with you, and in what manner?"
"Oh, every day. Sometimes he speaks to me face to face, and again he comes to me in dreams. I have been his agent now for six years, and I am going from place to place attending to this duty." "Where is your home?"

"My home, in Heaven. I am the second Adam. I am not now in the flesh. I died a hundred years ago. When I was born in the flesh it was at Christiana, in Scandinavia. I lived the life of a sailor for many yearsdied and went to Heaven, and God im-mediately gave me this work to do."
"Well, but where do you eat and

"I don't eat at all, and I return to my mansion in Heaven every night. You know it takes me just one-tenth of a second to reach home from any part of the earth.

"How do you travel from place to place while you are on the earth?"
"Why, I just go through the air. I staid in Chicago last night, and came from there here this morning in the twinkling of an eye. Yesterday at noon I was in New York and at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon I was in London—difference in time, you see. I expect to go to Jerusalem to-day. Why, I frequently go round the world several times in an hour.

"All I have to do is just to intimate to Jehovah that I wish to go to a certain part of his footstool and immediately I am there. Oh, it beats that famous ring you've read about in the 'Arabian Nights,' don't it?''

"Why does the Almighty desire the Jews to return to Palestine? "Well, I know, but I am not allowed to tell. Now, please print the warning for the good of my people."
